Sir,

As regards Grimes this applicant submits that since Grimes is not a fishing weight and not snag resistant its relevance to this applicants weight is vague and remote. However if the examiner is referring to the swivel of Grimes this applicant can only point to his own description of invention wherein the weight of this office action is described as being incomplete without the swivel. Said swivel is integral of overall design for proper operation to achieve the functions of said weight. The functions are these,

1. Snag resistant operation
2. Fast steady retrieves from long casts
3. Static performance as required by the tight line method of fishing

The swivel is integral, practical and critical to accomplishing these functions in a proper and operationally trouble free manner.
